

[FUNCTIONAL FREQUENCY TESTING OF INTEGRATED CIRCUITS]

Abstract

A method and circuits for testing an integrated circuit at functional clock frequency by providing a test controller generating control signals that assure proper latching of test patterns in scan chains at tester frequency and propagation of the test pattern through logic circuits being tested at functional clock frequency.